The Gothic flavor of Oglethorpe's buildings and traditions lends itself well
to being carried throughout the book
as the theme.
Permit thyself to enter . . .

Uh, stealing WHAT microscope?

Anything's safer than MARTA.

Hey guys, think she likes my new plaid shirt?

OK, 200 laps and — come back, I haven't finished yet!

I could've sworn the machine said coffee.

You want to enroll a what?

You heard me; he's here with me now.

I'm the only one for Aerosmith tryouts?

Send now, and this O.U. professor kit is yours . . .

Many people do not realize the work behind putting together a yearbook, and anyone with experience can agree that the task can be an ill-fated endeavor. Naturally, all the production difficulties occur simultaneously with the deadlines. Somehow a book is out, and not without small miracles by our staff. Thank you for all the time and effort — we truly appreciate it!

We also must thank sincerely Dean Thames and Mr. Bob Evans who patiently advised us through our many tales of woe. Bob Maynard of Georgia Photographics gets the credit for many of the organization and faculty shots, as well as the class section. Thanks go to the STORMY PETREL for providing us with elusive photographs we desperately needed. Finally, our warmest gratitude goes to Mr. Bill Wolfe of Walsworth Publishing who provided valuable support and advice, and helped us do everything short of parting the Red Sea.

We hope y'all find this book something to remember.
